Message from the Chair, Dr. Anders Øverby

Dear all fellow members and friends of the network. This year has indeed been a strange one so far with a pandemic severely impacting our health and society and forcing us to change and adapt. I hope we all can remain united and do everything we can to work for new solutions for new times, and that our network continues to serve as a platform of opportunities. Due to uncertainty of upcoming and planned seminars with physical presence, our attention to digital webinars has increased. The recently conducted webinar was a success and we reached out to a larger audience than before. We will continue with this, and otherwise our efforts in positioning our network for increase relevance. Thank you again for your support, I wish you all a great summer and good health, and I look forward to seeing you all again soon, be it online or offline.

INTPART call postponed

The deadline for the next INTPART call has been moved from 16. September to 18 November 2020, allowing potential applicant more time to prepare their proposals together with their partners. INTPART aims to develop world-class research and education in Norway through long-term international partnerships with institutions in the following eligible countries: Brazil, Canada, India, Japan, China, Russia, South Africa, the USA, Germany and France. Last year's call awarded NOK 200 mill. to new projects, including 11 new partnerships with institutions in Japan. You can read more about INTPART by following the link.
